Situated in the Ahmedabad, the new facility is expected to support the group's mission to enhance its technological capabilities.

Travel Designer Group announces the relocation of its Technology Division to a new state-of-the-art office at Mondeal Heights, which also houses the company's corporate headquarters.

This strategic expansion comes as part of group's ongoing commitment to innovation, operational excellence, and delivering best-in-class solutions to its partners worldwide. The new tech office is designed to foster collaboration, boost productivity, and provide a modern, dynamic environment for the company's expanding tech team.

"As our business continues to scale across markets, this new office is a reflection of our commitment to investing in people, technology, and infrastructure. It marks the beginning of an exciting new chapter as we focus on developing cutting-edge travel solutions that power the future of our industry," said Jaal Shah, Founder – RezLive.com & Group Managing Director – Travel Designer Group.

Situated in the Ahmedabad, the new facility is expected to support the group's mission to enhance its technological capabilities.
